

Dr. Draion Burch – Bio (FINAL)

[LONG-FORM BIO – 347 WORDS]

Dr. Draion Burch is very active in women’s health policy initiatives at the national level; he served on the Board of Trustees for the American Osteopathic Association and the American College of Osteopathic Obstetricians and Gynecologists.

Dr. Burch is the founder and chief medical advisor of DrDrai.com, the digital hangout spot where women go for practical tips and real-life strategies on improving their health. With 13 years of experience, Dr. Burch is passionate about not only changing the lives of the patients he sees on a regular basis, but also touching the hearts of the millions of women who see him on TV, hear his voice on the radio, and see his story in national publications.

As CEO of Momentum in Medicine, Dr. Burch shares his medical expertise freely and because of his big heart, he has made it his mission to change the lives of nurses, medical professionals and other doctors who have the desire to step outside the hospital walls and monetize their genius, but who also have no idea how to get started. With his unique coaching programs, he transforms healthcare practitioners and medical professionals into Doctorpreneurs™, individuals who leverage their knowledge to serve others and create the lifestyle of their dreams. This is accomplished by optimal branding, strategic marketing and purposeful product development.

Known for his big personality and business acumen, Dr. Burch has turned his wisdom into best-selling books, award-winning blogs, and a host of wildly popular digital products and online training programs such as “Medical Mogul Mastermind” where he reveals how doctors can monetize their medical expertise and turn their purpose into profit.

Born and raised in Southern Mississippi, Dr. Burch earned his undergraduate degree from Xavier University of Louisiana, his Doctorate of Osteopathic Medicine degree from Ohio University and completed his internship and residency at Michigan State University. Transitioning from academic medicine to boutique medicine, Dr. Draai is the owner of Amare Concierge, the new standard of healthcare for women. He is also a media expert for the American Osteopathic Association.

To experience Dr. Burch's genius for yourself, visit momentuminmedicine.com.

